

THE GENDER PAY REPORT 2023 GAP

This report refers to VINCI Construction Management Limited

Introduction

Gender pay reporting legislation, introduced in April 2017, requires employers with 250 or more employees to publish statutory calculations every year showing on their website and on a dedicated government site the pay gap between their male and female employees.

This is the first year that VINCI Construction Management Limited have met the reporting threshold of 250 employees or more, so it is the first year of gender pay statutory calculations.

The data in this report is reflective of a moment in time, specifically a snap shot date of 5th April 2023.

Our gender pay and bonus gaps reflect our organisational structure. VINCI Construction Management Limited is the employing entity for both Shared Services (Human Resources, ICT, Finance etc) of the UK Division of VINCI Construction, as well as the management overhead roles for our operating delegations. We have proportionately more women in lower skilled roles, such as administrative and clerical roles, where the pay is lower, and proportionately more men in our higher skilled roles and senior leadership roles, such as Commercial Managers and Executive Directors.

We have a gender imbalance of women in senior and leadership positions, and women remain underrepresented in our upper and upper middle quartiles. This is a trend observed in many UK businesses and is sadly systemic of the skills divide in the UK workforce.

What is the Gender Pay Gap at VINCI Construction Management Limited?

The gender pay gap shows the difference in average pay between women and men. This is different to equal pay i.e. women and men receiving the same pay for the same role.

The gender pay gap takes into account all roles at all levels of the organisation, rather than comparing pay received by women and men performing the same roles. We regularly review and analyse our employee pay to ensure men and women are treated equally when performing the same role. We are therefore confident that we do not have equal pay issues. Instead, our gender pay and bonus gaps reflect our organisational structure.

These calculations are not perfect, because different jobs pay differently and the number of men and women performing these jobs varies, this is why a gender pay gap exists. However, these calculations are an indication of inequalities in areas such as access to work, progression and rewards, essentially who works in which job.

Tackling the Gap from the Top

As a leadership team, we are pleased that elements of our gender pay gap figures continue to move in the right direction, however, we still have much to do to improve gender parity. We need to ensure more opportunities exist for female talent to join VINCI Construction iManagement Limited and to have a fulfilled sustainable career with us.

At VINCI Construction Management Limited we know that a diverse team creates a stronger, more dynamic business, which makes us a more attractive and sustainable employer. We want to create an environment where everyone feels like they belong, can be themselves and know their voice will be heard. This is not something that can be easily achieved within a single reporting cycle, but we are committed to long-term sustainable change.

We want to make sure that everyone at VINCI Construction Management Limited feels supported to grow, develop and thrive. We also firmly believe that this continued focus starts at the top and therefore all of our Leadership Team have signed this report to demonstrate their shared commitment.

We are not afraid to challenge our preconceptions of how we work and our established ways of thinking. We see this as critical in enabling us to understand what our customers want and expect from us, and to better represent the communities we serve.

We are also realistic about the challenges we face and the historical composition of the industries we operate in. We are committed to understanding the root causes of issues, finding solutions that are both practical and beneficial to employees and being transparent.
